

General Terms & Conditions for Purchase of Valve Kits (API 6D, API 594, API 600, API 602, API 598)

Incoterms: CIF Dubai Basis

1. Introduction

1.1 These General Terms and Conditions ("Agreement") govern the purchase of valve kits as per the specifications outlined in API 6D, API 594, API 600, API 602, and API 598 standards ("Products").

1.2 The Products must comply with the applicable API standards and meet all relevant performance, material, and quality requirements.

1.3 According to the present terms and conditions, TISCO Company takes the denomination of (Buyer). The recipient of the order takes the denomination of (Seller). TISCO Customer for whom all or part of the order is intended takes the denomination of (Customer). The present (GENERAL PURCHASING CONDITIONS) are an integral part of the order. They define the rights and obligations of the contracting parties. They are considered to be fully accepted by the Seller who makes a point of doing his private business from all his prospective subcontractors so that the Buyer shall, under no circumstances, be worried or sued, for whatever cause or reason. They may be modified and/or completed solely according to the terms of the order letter or subsequent additional clause (endorsement). They cancel and replace all contrary or additional clauses the Seller is liable to refer to, and more particularly to the provisions of his general terms and conditions of sale, in any way and at any stage.

1.4 GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS - The present purchase order constitutes a purchase contract and its acceptance induces the supplier to the obligation to abide by the general and particular terms and conditions of this order. Any contrary provisions enclosed in the returned acknowledgement of receipt may alter the conditions specified in this purchase order only after express acceptance by the Buyer, condition without which we would not have dealt with this order.

1.5 ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF RECEIPT - For non-return of acknowledgement of receipt within eight days, the supplier is considered to be fully accepting the order and all its clauses of execution. If, after this period, the Seller has not expressed his agreement or disagreement concerning the terms of the order and its additional clauses, it is clearly agreed that the Buyer has the power to cancel purely and simply the order without the Seller's right to claim to any compensation. Should the Seller's agreement be accompanied with reservations, these would cancel the order except for the Buyer's express acceptance of the modifications made by the Seller. It is also agreed that the Seller's acceptance is considered as definite, without reservation, through one of the following conditions: a) the return of the duplicate of order and additional clauses to the Buyer, signed by the Seller, even if not preceded by the mention "READ AND APPROVED" b) any order start of execution by the Seller.

1.6 MANUFACTURING INSPECTION IN PRODUCTION PLANT - The Buyer and/or his Customer as well as any external body appointed by each of the aforementioned, reserve the right to follow the execution of the ordered goods - supplying, manufacturing, marking and packing - in the Seller's offices, workshops and/or warehouses, as well as in his potential subcontractors' premises. The access to these premises must be authorized and made easier to the aforementioned representatives. For that purpose, the Seller commits himself to take the necessary steps. The aforementioned manufacturing inspections do not release the Seller from his own verifications and liability in relation to guaranties on the grounds of his contractual liability. The allotted time normally necessary to the progress of the inspections and testing in the factory cannot be taken by the Seller as a justification for the delay in the goods delivery. Any final inspection and test do not imply, under any circumstances, that the delivery has been made. All the expenses involved in the inspections and testing carried out to check that the goods comply with the general and particular technical specification and performed in the Seller's and his subcontractors' plants are fully paid for by the Seller with the exception of the Buyer and Customer's representatives personal expenses.
